

PRODUCT LIABILITY DAY

FRIDAY 28 JUNE 2019

We are delighted to invite you to attend 2TG's annual Product Liability Day on Friday 28 June 2019. This year there will be a focus on claims arising from consumer electrical products, although the topics will also be of interest to product liability practitioners generally and especially those dealing with cases arising from property damage and fire as part of their practice.

The talks will address a broad range of topics, including the current state of the law in relation to the test for defect under the CPA, the scope for using s.41 of the CPA to bypass the Products Directive, liabilities arising from failures to implement recalls properly, causation and fact-finding problems in fire claims and private international law issues in product liability claims.
