

Cryptoassets and Smart Contracts

On Monday (18th November) the Government's UK Jurisdiction Taskforce published its 'Legal Statement on Cryptoassets and Smart Contracts'. This ground-breaking initiative is intended to provide clarity on a number of legal issues which can arise as the result of the increasing use of cryptoassets (such as cryptocurrencies) and smart contracts. The UK is taking a markedly different legal and regulatory approach to these technological innovations and the Legal Statement is an important development. The seminar will walk you through the Legal Statement, explore some of its conclusions and will also put in the Legal Statement in context by reference to recent global case law.

The seminar follows on from the hugely successful series of seminars previously run by Christopher Lundie and George Hilton in the UK and the Middle East on cryptocurrencies which explored some of the issues now addressed by the Legal Statement.

If you need to 'future proof' your legal practice, this seminar is one which should not be missed.

Christopher Lundie

Recommended in the directories for commercial dispute resolution Christopher has a busy commercial practice in the Business and Property Courts with a focus on banking, finance, corporate and trust matters. "He's always on top of the facts and the law, and he's an excellent technical lawyer for complex matters, whose also very commercial." Chambers & Partners

George Hilton

A commercial barrister who practises across Chambers' core practice areas with a particular focus on commercial litigation and arbitration, banking and financial services, insurance, and IP/IT. He is regularly instructed in complex technical disputes and is a competent computer coder, literate in most mainstream coding languages.

Location:
2 Temple Gardens, London EC4Y 9AY

Time:
6pm, followed by drinks and canapés at 7pm

CPD:
1.5 hours

Date:
3 December 2019

Contact to reserve a place:
seminars@2tg.co.uk

Cost:
Free of Charge