...specialist in cross-border litigation, product liability and insurance law, who "always delivers"
(Chambers UK)

Practice Overview

Alistair's practice spans a range of commercial litigation, with an emphasis on cross-border disputes, product liability, insurance and property damage.

Alistair has extensive experience of complex, high-profile cases, and has appeared in the Supreme Court on multiple occasions. Chambers UK notes that "he is quick, thorough, technical and takes a commercial and sensible approach to cases", "gives very good advice" and "gets excellent results".

Alistair is frequently instructed as sole counsel against significantly more senior opponents. Given the nature of his practice, he is often involved in international litigation and arbitrations in various foreign countries, and has practised in the courts of the Dubai International Financial Centre.

Private International Law

Alistair has a busy conflict of laws practice, regularly appearing in high profile cases in this specialist area. He has acted in leading cases concerning jurisdiction, choice of law and the enforcement of foreign judgments and has an extensive understanding of the legal complexities these areas involve.

Alistair is listed in Chambers UK for his private international law work. He is praised as being "amazingly good at understanding the international elements of a case" and for the fact that "he always delivers what he promises" and "gives very good advice".

Alistair is regularly instructed to deal with claims arising from cross-border product liability and insurance disputes, and authored 2TG's "Practical Guide to Anti-Suit Injunctions" with Charles Dougherty QC.
